Officer Seek Public's Help in Catching Fawn Poachers in Southern Utah

October 08, 2011

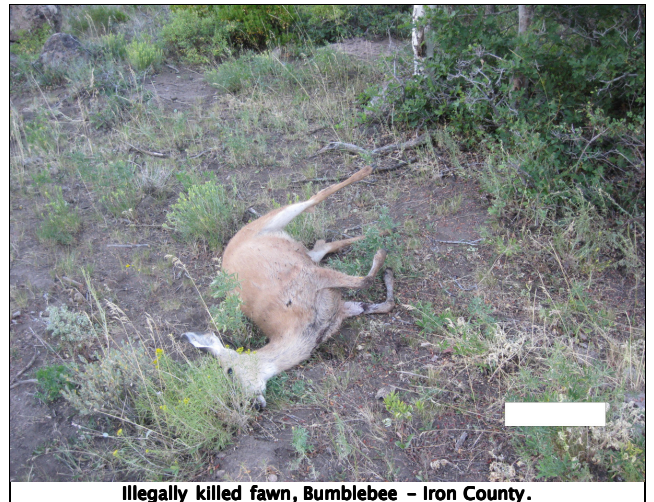

Iron & Washington Counties

DWR conservation officers in southern Utah are seeking the public's help in apprehending the suspects responsible for illegally killing two fawn deer and leaving them to waste.

The first fawn was discovered by Conservation Officer Chris Schulze during the archery deer hunt in an area south of Cedar City known locally as Bumblebee Mountain.

The second fawn, also investigated by Officer Schulze was discovered by a concerned citizen in the Kolob area of Washington County in early October. Both fawns were shot and left by unknown suspects.

These animals were stolen from the people of Utah. Anyone with information regarding the illegal killing of these animals is encouraged to contact the Utah Turn in a Poacher Hotline at 1-800-662-3337.

Illegally killed fawn, Bumblebee - Iron County.

Illegally killed fawn, Kolob - Washington County.
